Genesis Suicide

turbulence and spleen from the aftertime

Much gratitude to Jeffery Side for his encouragement and enthusiasm.
Genesis Suicide
No ashes.
We might have expected ashes if we had known how to read twilight but not blue leaves, a low circling red crane, musty water and receding sky, vermillion, gold and indigo made of interpenetrating motion

In the aftermath poison is the common tongue – Did you notice an increase of crows, wild dogs and other predatory species?

– Yes, and several exotic species as well.
– What were the worms doing?
– What worms? doing what?
– Were they acrobats, painted in marvelous colors?
  Were they swimming through the earth and all the bodies it consumes?
– They were radio frequencies.

An endless stream in the transparent body.
A familiar voice through the screen, the rustling of dried corn stalks, the clang of tarnished lattice work

All poison – the common parlance

Oh happy day!
Oh happy day!
When the devil drank my empty rage

Whoʼs gonna sing the river bottom blues when the garbage trucks collect our bones?
Gravity comes in a wicked knot

The air tastes of meat and sweat

A star in a box cradled in cottony nebulae

Caught in a backlash how can they recall their original behavior?

It does not sting.
It does not bite.
not even pain is Real

Watch crow devour a thundering field

Watch crow eat dove and order fall into place “To You before the light is done.” *

Gathered in the mountain’s shadow waiting the dragon of Tenochtitlan to pass call it even money – Mexico City
    buried beneath five feet of warm snow

All of it carefully arranged by Man, that old devil float the casino with the sweet descent of easy cash

Even the sand was seared into polished green glass the color of purgatory’s wing buried in the subterranean sky

He said, “I’d never lie to you, but I’ll kill you where you stand.”

And the dead came real

* Dante – Purgatio – Canto VII – quoting the Compline Hymn Who’d castrate Christ to preach the sublime?

Who smuggled the holy viscera out of country at a profit?

Who reassembled them into the rusty hulk of an obsolete machine?

Who made the creature speak & ripped it free of all species?

Surely the tongue-tied devil has his reward
A man waters his lawn so he can cut it down again

Rain is never enough but no one can refuse the rain

On the third day the stench returned like the Son of God come for revenge on his murderers Physicians indoctrinated by the pharmaceutical clans, made swindlers and forced into submission by insurance cabals to rob the populace of its small wealth and be delivered pill by pill into the grave

The extension of death to please the shareholder

You’ll pay to keep breathing even if agony is all that remains.
That’s the bet and the odds are good.

So the nations disappeared to please old Avarice – sin made virtue, virtue made law
and law made death

And if they speak of her at all none can bear to see his mouth working at the darkness If the rivers catch fire and weeds rust from the pole star out

The maker of Saturn swallowing thorns — He’s a banker by trade, a rabid dog in his prayer closet, a space made sacred by his daughter’s hanging

Sing that old banishing spell the one that grandma knew so well

Everything goes out Everything goes
Everything
Anyhow, what she said was:

Hector, if you don’t quit your grousing I’m gonna hit you square in the face with a cleaver

Well, that brought him around.
A little woman half his size, and one of the gentlest people you’d ever meet, was threatening an all out assault.
He knew she meant it too.

So he sat in his easy chair all afternoon without saying a word, turning the pages of his well worn Bible, not reading, but contemplating the sudden turn of events.
It wasn’t until she called him to supper that he got up, walked back into the kitchen and took his seat.

She’d laid out a meal of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, okra and cornbread.
He said the prayer, took a long drink of iced tea and dug in.
She was watching him.
Waiting for a word.
The only word she got, after he’d eaten two helpings of the spread, was a low “Thank you,” as he got up and walked out the back door.

He sat on the steps until twilight and the crickets came on full fiddle.
She stood on the other side of the door and talked to him through the screen, “You comin’ in?”
“Yeah, I guess I will.”

That was the end of it.
In those days there was life in people.
They were made of blood and bone.
They saw and heard the world. They felt it on their skin.

He woke at sunrise, went out to the hen house and gathered eggs.
They were sitting in a bowl by the stove when she got up.

She made breakfast and knew not much had changed.

Everything goes
Take the low channel

aleph null?
How does horror express itself?

in the appetite?
in a soggy mattress falling to pieces on rusty bedsprings to be alone with Pan in that other earth?

Singing hymns, back and forth while the rocking chair creaks the meter?

"It’s coming you know.
You know it’s coming."

The old washing machine with the hand cranked wringer in a room beside the chicken coop – brown eggs still warm?
Is that an accurate account of patterned reflex?

Is that enchantment, to be alone with death calling, a trigger hidden in the brain – a secret impossible to know beyond the process?

not even a whisper buried deep in the ringing silence of the old gal’s ear?

Out of cold faith in pain to supply the tones between a broken plow and the open door?

A > B, is she waiting inside, wet, gray hair combed across her face?

Is that erasure too much to drive out?
shimmer orbit

so much potioning and the quickening of electrons

"Move that to the back burner, darling.
You don’t want it to scorch."

Corn, squash and beans boiled in bear fat.

At some indeterminate chaos brews into such complexity that entropy is overwhelmed and supper emerges.

"Here now, eat yourself a plate of that.
It’ll keep your belly warm ’til the frost breaks. Maybe we can get a little work done before dark.
Don’t forget to bring your gun. There’s wolves about."

Imagination - critical mass

Who can reap these materials?

Where is the hunter who broke his feet in the scree and flew womb to star in the feeding frenzy?

Animal is light without number or what lust demands Field mice under the floor Copperhead tumbling out of the ceiling from the attic on fire

Hackberry and jasmine up through the parlor floor crashing through the window at summer's pace

The ghosts have vanished, gone as memory and echo

Indifference is merely a human thing, minus the gravity to shape a body

Who remains to follow the rails down into the branches and thorns?
No. We sit in careful rooms with antiseptic fever calculate the power bill and hope the cool air holds until autumn captured in the aftertime chanting a hymn into the drapes smothered as she was while the preacher scolded her and the boy behind the pulpit trembled

The crows come every morning to feed at these roots

Sweet poison – pill bottles crowd the fruit, vegetables and bread for shelf space

Sweet idolatry toxins and vanity

Let the crows take whatever they want “Love for sale...”

Air war, they called it – whales drifting over the battlefield – gray bloodsmoke and the lie of nobility

The pitted earth and poisoned clouds craped with bodiless souls screaming the hell Man made The vast heaving ribcage of that venomous shape built soulless drones in his anti-image

Death itself slaughtered and brought to market

He’ll fuck his own children before he’ll face who he really is

“Love for sale...”

Keep the engine throbbing Keep the malice humming

No one can refuse the rain.
It precedes and excludes the world – everything that is the case – forever unopened if it can’t be spoken or so the story goes (if they are still singing it)

One myth is as good as another – a clap trap vault of dead objects Imagine the fossil remnants of fuses, cigarettes, sheep bladder and Chaplin’s stutter step upwind so you can smell the dance

Or so the story goes
(for those that missed the matinee)

Poison to poison wash it down wash it clean wash away the film

Twins born in a cedarwood fold
